

Huff DRG Review Services Announces New Name—Enjoin—during AHIMA’s 87th Convention and Exhibit in New Orleans

Enjoin launches atop 20 years of success in physician-directed CDI, DRG management and educational services.

New Orleans, Sept. 27, 2015 –Today Huff DRG Review Services, a nationally recognized and respected clinical documentation improvement services consulting firm, announced its new name—Enjoin—during the opening session of AHIMA’s 87th Convention and Exhibit. The announcement was made by Dr. Garry L. Huff, M.D. CCS, CCDS, President and CEO of Enjoin, booth #1538.

“Enjoin means ‘to instruct’ and connotes a degree of urgency—similar to the critical need for healthcare organizations to address clinical documentation gaps and coding inconsistencies,” mentions Dr. Huff. The highlighted j and i represent Enjoin’s strength—their people—working collaboratively with hospitals, health systems and physician practices to improve clinical documentation integrity.

Led by Enjoin’s team of board-certified physicians, credentialed clinical coding analysts and experienced CDI specialists, the company’s clients rapidly improve clinical documentation, coding accuracy and case mix—realizing an average return on investment over 700%. The company’s 30-day initial assessment often achieves immediate revenue recovery benefits.

Huff DRG Review’s new name also represents growth, transition and expansion. Enjoin now supports all departments that benefit through improved clinical documentation—including outpatient services and quality reporting. The company has evolved its CDI and educational services to focus on accountable care initiatives in addition to DRG management.

“Healthcare providers are facing an urgent imperative to improve the quality and accuracy of clinical documentation—especially to meet new ICD-10 coding and quality reporting requirements,” says James P. Fee, M.D., CCS, CCDS, Vice President of Enjoin. The company’s passion for education and unwavering commitment to quality continues under the name Enjoin.
